SELECTSIMILARMODE system variable

Function Description:

The SELECTSIMILARMODE system variable is used to control which property must be matched when using SELECTSIMILAR command to select objects with the same type.

Type : Bitcode
Saved in : Use-settings
Initial value : 130
Range : 0 ~ 255

It may be seemed as the similar object when objects with the same type locating on the same layer; for external reference, objects with the same name will be treated as similar objects.

System Variable Value:

0 :object type
1 : color
2 : layer
4 : linetype
8 : linetype scale
16 : lineweight
32 : plot style
64 : object style, including text style, dimension style, and table style
128 : name, for reference objects(including blocks, xrefs, and images)

Online URL: https://www.kb2.gstarcad.com.my/article.php?id=1808